

K-State 2025 Strategic Action and Alignment Plan

College or Major Unit: College of Architecture, Planning & Design

Department: Landscape Architecture | Regional and Community Planning

1. What are your Department’s mission and vision and how does your organization contribute to achieving the University’s and your College’s/Major Unit’s vision for K-State 2025?

LARCP Vision Statement:

The Landscape Architecture/Regional and Community Planning Department strives to develop our students, faculty, and future professionals to confront global landscape architecture and planning dilemmas and to be catalysts for excellence in our professions, our communities, and the academy. We seek planning and management of human settlement that fosters a just, resilient and democratic world. Our work is grounded in environmental stewardship, critical inquiry and creative thinking, and community engagement and design.

Landscape Architecture Program Mission:

We prepare graduates to be leaders in the field of landscape architecture by integrating student learning with faculty research and creative pursuits and engaging with partners in communities and other disciplines. Through these activities we significantly advance the discipline of landscape architecture. We blend our understanding of ecological and societal needs to design, plan and manage the interface between humans and nature to shape environments in ways that benefit both through critical thinking, design processes and implementation. Focused on preparation for professional practice, we are highly skilled, diligent, passionate people dedicated and working together in vertically integrated studios that are collaborative and energetic.

Regional and Community Planning Program Mission:

We prepare graduates to be effective advocates of resilient cities and responsible for community growth and redevelopment. We are engaged in the exchange of ideas that develop strategic visioning to enhance quality of life in ways that are sustainable, equitable, and accessible to all our citizens. We contribute to the expansion of knowledge through research and its dissemination, outreach to various constituents, and professional education grounded in creative and critical thinking. Students and faculty engage in exploration, analysis, synthesis, and resolution of planning, design and management issues. Our aim is to help communities effectively address challenges related to resource conservation, growing of diverse populations, and continually changing technologies and value systems.

Community Development:

As a part of the Great Plains IDEA online programs, the Community Development Program provides professional preparation for career development or advancement. We prepare graduates to address challenges faced by communities in the United States and other countries, particularly those in rural areas. Community Development graduates actively promote positive social, economic, cultural and environmental change and engage citizens in democratic decision making and action. A diverse faculty from several institutions teaches critical thinking, ethical consideration, careful planning and involvement of all stakeholders.

4a. What resources and/or opportunities exist for your Department to achieve its vision and outcomes?

Our primary resources are based in the knowledge, skills and passions of our faculty and staff, collectively and individually, as well as those of our students and alumni. The intersection of our graduate studies with current transformations of our professional disciplines presents our greatest opportunities. Those factors combined interwoven with the growth and development of our college and multiple collaborative relationships with other units across campus create an optimum environment for our department to achieve our vision and projected outcomes.

4b. What resources and/or opportunities are needed for your Department to achieve its vision and outcomes?

Fulfillment of our vision will require a shared college vision with department plans in alignment with one another; annual salary increases and salary enhancements based upon merit; support for extramural grant preparation; and appointment of an associate dean or director whose sole responsibility is research/PhD program development.

5. How do you propose to acquire the resources needed for your Department to accomplish its vision and outcomes?

We will acquire the necessary resources in partnership with our college, our KSU Foundation Development Officer and with the Office of Research and Sponsored Projects.
