

Arthropod Genomics: New Approaches and Outcomes

FOURTH ANNUAL
Arthropod Genomics
S Y M P O S I U M

June 10 – 13, 2010
Kansas City

ROOMMATE MATCHING ASSISTANCE

Roommate matching is being offered on an informal basis for the 2010 Arthropod Genomics Symposium.

As requests for roommates are received, we will provide a matching service by simultaneously sending your contact information to a potential roommate and the potential roommate's information to you. You will be responsible for contacting each other and deciding which of you will reserve the room at the hotel.

When making your hotel reservations, you will need to provide a credit card and the name of your roommate. Your credit card will be used to hold the reservation only. Upon check in, the hotel's system will automatically split the rate between the people sharing the room and each individual can provide their own credit card for their portion of the expense. Please be advised that should your roommate's plans change, you will be charged for the entire room rate per night. The Arthropod Genomics Symposium is not responsible for covering room fees for roommates who do not show up.

If you are interested in sharing a room with a roommate, please send an e-mail to Doris Merrill, dmerrill@k-state.edu, and include the following information:

1. Name
2. E-mail Address
3. Title
4. Institution
5. Date of Arrival
6. Date of Departure
7. Your Gender: Male or Female

Roommate matching is provided as a service to attendees; we cannot guarantee a match.