

POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

Department of Architectural Engineering and Construction Science

Assistant Professor, Full-Time Tenure-Track or Instructor, Structural Engineering

Functions Candidate shall have the ability to teach, enhance, and promote undergraduate education including student advising responsibilities. The candidate should also have the ability to teach graduate courses and supervise graduate students. Candidate must be an effective communicator, instructor, and have demonstrated strong leadership and management skills along with a commitment to team building and continuous improvement, to work effectively with faculty, students, staff and industry.

Qualifications Applicant must have a strong background in structural engineering as applied to buildings in the U.S. A minimum of five years experience in building structural engineering with supervisory capacity is required, along with professional engineering registration. A strong background in computer applications and involvement with preparation of construction documents for building projects is also required. An earned Ph.D. in applicable engineering discipline is preferred, but a Masters of Science degree with an emphasis in structural engineering, and with significant experience will be considered for assistant professorship. Candidates with a Bachelor of Science with significant structural engineering experience may be considered for the instructor level; if appointed at the instructor level the successful candidate will be required to obtain graduate degree. Excellent oral and written communication skill are required. Applicant must be authorized to work in the U.S.

Starting Date Fall Semester, August 10, 2008

Salary & Benefits Salary is dependent upon qualifications. The University provides Retirement Plan options, Medical and Dental Plan, Life Insurance.

Applications Submit cover letter, teaching philosophy, resume and names, addresses, and phone numbers of at least three professional references to:

Carl O. Riblett, Professor
Search Committee Chairperson
Department of Architectural Engineering and Construction Science
240 Seaton Hall
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506-2903

Review of applications will begin on June 15, 2008 and continue until the position is filled.

Department The Department of Architectural Engineering and Construction Science in the College of Engineering at Kansas State University is one of the nation's leading engineering programs focused on the design and construction of buildings and building systems. The department offers a five-year ABET accredited B.S. degree in Architectural Engineering, an M.S. degree in Architectural Engineering, and a four-year ACCE accredited B.S. degree in Construction Science and Management. More detail at www.ksu.edu/are-cns/.