

Student Learning Outcomes
Ph.D. in Counseling and Student Development:
Specialization in Student Affairs in Higher Education

FEB 28 2005

1. Students must apply philosophical foundations of the profession to current student affairs practice. (Knowledge)
2. Students must apply a code of ethics or ethical principles sanctioned by a recognized professional organization to their professional practice including research, assessment, and evaluation. (Attitudes and Professional Conduct)
3. Students must apply theory to understand, support, and advocate for student learning and development. (Knowledge)
4. Students must demonstrate leadership, organizational, and management practices that assist institutions in accomplishing their mission. (Skills)
5. Students must exhibit skill in working with students, individually and in groups, for: program planning, implementation, or evaluation; staff training, advising, or supervision; and administration functions or processes. (Skills)