AAC&U VALUE RUBRIC SESSIONS

Learn how using the VALUE rubrics can improve your assessments—both in the classroom & at the program level

Friday, March 14, 2014

Sessions

∞ Cultural Competence with the Intercultural Knowledge & Global Learning VALUE Rubrics
8:00–9:30 a.m., Bluemont 106
All are invited to this special session designed for College of Education faculty and staff.

∞ Introduction to the VALUE Rubrics
9:30–10:20 a.m. and 1:30–2:20 p.m., 401 Hale Library
Participants will learn the basics of using the VALUE rubrics to assess student learning. Use of the rubrics to improve learning both in the classroom and at the program level will be covered.

∞ Using the Oral Communication, Written Communication & Critical Thinking VALUE Rubrics
10:30–11:20 a.m. and 2:30–3:20 p.m., 401 Hale Library
Participants will go in-depth to understand how to implement the oral communication, written communication, and critical thinking VALUE rubrics. This session is encouraged for participants in the VALUE Rubric pilot project.

∞ Brown Bag Session
Noon–1 p.m., 401 Hale Library
Bring your questions and your lunch to learn about the AAC&U VALUE Rubrics.

Presenter

Dr. Ashley Finley
Senior director of assessment and research at AAC&U and national author of Making Progress: What We Know the Achievement of Liberal Education Outcomes, and Using the VALUE Rubrics for Improvement of Learning and Authentic Assessment

Workshops are free and open to all K-State faculty and staff—no registration required

Find more information at www.ksu.edu/assessment/rubricpilot