Affirmative Action at the Crossroads:
The Uncertain Future of Race-Conscious College Admissions

7 p.m., Sept. 19, 2012

ALUMNI CENTER BALLROOM

FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

During his lecture, Steven A. Ramirez will focus on an important case currently before the U.S. Supreme Court, which challenges a university's right to consider race and ethnicity in deciding whether to admit student applicants.

Following the talk, the audience will be invited to join in small groups to discuss whether race-based college admission should be allowed or whether this policy violates the civil rights of some applicants. This fall event offers a tremendous opportunity for our campus to continue to join in the national dialogue on the state of civil rights in America.
