MINUTES
Faculty Senate Executive Committee
Monday, March 31, 2008 3:30 pm
Union Room 213

Present: Adams, Arck, Bontrager, Carroll, Cauble, Clark, DeLuccie, Fairchild, Gehrt, Guzek, Hosni, Kearn, Knapp, Miller, Ross, Spikes, Turnley
Absent: Piper, Smith
Visitors: Al Cochran, Matt Wagner

1. President Frank Spikes called the meeting to order at 3:35 p.m.

2. Approval of February 25, 2008 minutes
   Senator Hosni moved to approve the minutes; motion was seconded and passed.

Spikes recognized Candace Becker for completing 10 years of K-State service. He also recognized Melody LeHew representing Academic Affairs today, on behalf of Doris Carroll.

Spikes introduced Matt Wagner, student body president, who co-chaired the SGA Long-Term Tuition Strategies Committee, who then discussed the final report of that committee. If the students’ proposal is adopted, the rate for the new differential tuition for 300 level courses and above will be set after the legislature approves the final university’s block grant. It was discussed that the College of Technology and Aviation will not increase tuition next year and will add a pre-college tuition rate for Salina High School students. The committee has recommended continuance of the current college specific fees with increases in those fees. Discussion ensued regarding college-specific fees. Potential expansion of these fees for other colleges should be addressed with the administration by the colleges.

Adams suggested that faculty have failed to have discussions on tuition strategies and we should remedy that in the future in order to have voice in future tuition-setting practices. Spikes indicated he represented Faculty Senate on this committee for the past year. Spikes suggested that FSCOUP consider establishing a subcommittee on tuition strategies next academic year, as it is really too late this year. Spikes commented the current environment is a perfect storm with revenue estimates down, the legislature not likely to totally fund the governor’s budget; a mostly new Regents board, and a new Regents chief academic officer. Wagner lastly discussed the funding initiatives in the proposal for additional financial aid scholarships; healthy decisions (enhancement of the student lifestyle, see more information at ksu.edu/hd); and the sustainability initiatives.

Spikes discussed the Leadership Studies and Programs, currently in the College of Education. It is a university-wide minor with hundreds of student participants. Because Leadership Studies does not closely fit with the rest of the College of Education, Dean Holen has been working to remove this program from the college oversight. Earlier this year, Dean Holen met with the College Committee on Planning to share a proposal to separate this program from the college. Spikes appointed Tom Vontz as a Faculty Senate observer over this separation process as required in Appendix N of the University Handbook. The current proposal is to move the Leadership Studies Program under the direction of Susan Scott and to establish a School of Leadership Studies at the beginning of the next fiscal year. On April 18, there will be a groundbreaking ceremony for the new building for Leadership Studies, with full funding by private donations, just east of Shellenberger Hall. There are many University Handbook issues involved in this change. Provost Nellis will establish a task force to look at the various programs that do not have a particular home such as the Honors Program and General Education Studies. The task force will begin meeting on April 11 with a deadline to complete recommendations by October 1. Hosni will represent Faculty Senate on this task force. Spikes said there is no precedent at K-State to have an academic unit that is not within a college. The administration and the private donor determined it would be called a School rather than some other naming convention such as an Institute or Center. Cauble mentioned that this may be an opportunity to work with administration to create a unique structure to meet our interdisciplinary studies needs.

   at Ft. Riley and he will represent Faculty Senate and other university administrators will participate in the day’s activities.

Degree Requirements: 125–126

RATIONALE:

(a) The ART 425 and MUSIC 405 classes required in the program have been moved into general education humanities from the pre-professional category. Since more emphasis is placed in the courses on arts appreciation for elementary teachers, this movement into general education is justified.

(b) Narrowing the range of choices for social sciences classes will provide more focused preparation for students when they take the content tests required for teacher licensure. Preparation for the content tests also necessitates a requirement in political science and economics. To enable this change, the previous requirements for non-western cultures and a restricted elective have been removed. Recent results on the state contents document the need for students to have improved background in history, geography, political science, and economics.

(c) Lower the course number for EDEL 350 Health and Movement Education to be EDEL 250 since students are sophomores when they take the class. Course numbers at the 200-level are typically sophomore-level courses.

(d) Currently, students need 50 completed hours to be eligible for admission to teacher education. Since 8 credits have been removed from the pre-professional component (3 credits for art, 3 credits for music, and 2 credits for educational technology), the credits for admission to teacher education have also been reduced by 8 credits to become 42 credits needed for admission to teacher education.

(e) Three new courses have been added. Data from program reviews (e.g., practicum performance, SLO results, exit survey and graduate survey results; and teacher education advisory committee recommendations) document the need to provide more complete coverage in the program on core teaching skills, classroom assessment, and classroom management and discipline, thus justifying these new courses.

(f) Several professional courses have been renumbered to reflect their new placement in the program sequence. This renumbering will also facilitate student advising. In some cases, a minor change in title has been entered.

(g) The Language Arts Methods and the Reading Methods courses have been changed to become Teaching Literacy: Grades K-2 and Teaching Literacy Methods: Grades 3-6 in an effort to avoid duplication of content and to provide more appropriate grade-level attention to literacy methods. They also have been placed in different Blocks in the program so they are taken in an appropriate sequence.
For the Teaching Diverse Learners class, content has been added on culturally and linguistically diverse students, the title has been changed to reflect that new content, and one credit has been added to the course. Data from program reviews (e.g., practicum performance, SLO results, exit survey and graduate survey results; and teacher education advisory committee recommendations) document the need to provide more complete coverage in the program on culturally and linguistically diverse students.

A minor change in title has been entered to make the title more descriptive. Also, the credits have been reduced by one to reflect the 15-week semester that the Board of Regents builds into course clock hour requirements.

The area of concentration for modern foreign language is being dropped because (1) taking this area does not lead to licensure as a foreign language teacher (students must go through the secondary education program for that), (2) elementary teachers do not have responsibility to teach foreign languages, and (3) having students take one of the other content-related areas of concentrations would provide more appropriate background for areas they would have responsibility teaching in the K-6 grades.

EFFECTIVE DATES:

- Spring 2009: The requirement of 42 completed credits for admission to teacher education would go into effect.

- Fall 2009 and Spring 2010: Any student admitted to teacher education and starting the Professional Education courses (i.e., Blocks A, B, and C) would follow the new requirements for Professional Education courses. Those students would be permitted to use either the former requirements or the new requirements for Pre-Professional Education and General Education.

- Fall 2010: Any student admitted to teacher education and starting the Professional Education courses (i.e., Blocks A, B, and C) would follow all requirements for the new program (including General Education, Pre-Professional Education, and Professional Education).
