Undergraduate Course and Curriculum changes

School of Family Studies and Human Services

ADD:

FSHS 322, Transition to Parenthood

Credits: 3

This course is an empirically based evaluation of The Transition to Parenthood from the onset of pregnancy to three years after the child's birth.

When Offered: Spring

Pre-Requisite: No

K-State 8 TAG: Social Sciences

Rationale: This course has been offered on the Manhattan and Salina campuses as a FSHS 300: Problems in Family Studies & Human Services course. This course was first offered as an intersession course and has since been adapted to be offered as a semester-long course. This proved to be very effective. We would like to now offer this course on the K-State Salina campus as an elective for FSHS students who need professional electives and all other K-State Salina students who can use this course as a social science elective.

Impact: None

Effective Date: Spring 2013

Additional requirements for licensure (9 credit hours)

Select additional electives from the areas of humanities, social sciences, sciences, mathematics, general religion, philosophy, art and music history, and appreciation of art, architecture, music, or theatre to fulfill the general education requirements for teaching licensure in early childhood education.

- Social science elective Credits: (3)
- Literature elective Credits: (3)
- Diversity Elective Credits: (3)

Notes

*First aid/CPR certification required before enrollment in FSHS 598. This requirement can be met by successful completion of Red Cross or American Heart Association courses.

A minimum of 9 credit hours other than psychology is required for certification.

Literature for Children and Literature for Adolescents may not be used as literature electives but may be used to fulfill additional general education requirements.

Total hours required for graduation (124)

Rationale: To meet College requirement.

Impact: None

Effective: Fall 2013

- ANTH 200 – Introduction to Cultural Anthropology Credits: (3)
  or
- ANTH 204 – A General Education Introduction to Cultural Anthropology Credits: (3)

Unrestricted electives (13-16 credit hours)

Rationale: 1. The name change to “Nutrition and Health” reflects a greater emphasis on health courses under the professional studies section. An increasing number of students in this major go on to post-baccalaureate schools in the health profession. 2. Grades of “C or higher” will be required for all courses in this curriculum except for those in the unrestricted electives category. The higher grade requirements increase the academic rigor of this curriculum, and enable students to be more academically competitive for professional schools or for graduate schools. 3. ANTH 200 or 204 has been moved to the professional studies section. 4. Content of KIN 360 (8) Anatomy and Physiology is adequate for students in this major. 5. HN 110 provides an overview of the five core disciplines (epidemiology, biostatistics, environmental health, social and behavioral health, and health policy and management), and information about career options in public health.\(^\text{⑥}\). GNHE 210 is required in the new College of Human Ecology core degree requirements as Additional Integrative Studies (expedited and approved by the CHE Academic Affairs Committee 2.23.12). This course replaces the previous core requirement of FSHS 350 or GNHE 310.\(^\text{⑦}\). KIN 220 has been added as a professional requirement because of the importance of physical activity in health.\(^\text{⑧}\). These courses give students more choice selecting other disciplines related to health, and are commonly required for entrance into professional schools.\(^\text{⑨}\). The Kansas Board of Regents has approved the reduction of credit hours for a B.S. degree to 120 hrs. The number of unrestricted electives has been modified to reflect the balance of hours needed to complete the degree.

Modern Languages

ADD: GRMN 528 – Introductory Topics in German Language and Linguistics. (3) I, II. Introduction to topics in German Linguistics, with special emphasis on the connection between language structure and use or language structures and learning. Courses are repeatable with change of subject matter. Pr.: GRMN 223. Other Requirements: GRMN 523 or 527 or 526 should be taken before GRMN 528 or concurrently with GRMN 528.
K-State 8: Global Issues and Perspectives

RATIONALE: Courses in Linguistics and Applied Linguistics have increased since new faculty, with specialization in Linguistics, were hired in Modern Languages in Fall 2007, on the graduate and undergraduate levels. These new hires and new offerings responded to an increased interest in Linguistics and Applied Linguistics, and especially in linguistic training for language-teachers-in-training (BA and MA levels). New courses in linguistics were in the past years offered as special topics under existing course numbers. However, since these language/linguistics courses are distinct in content, skills, and research approach from literature/culture courses and are now offered on a regular basis (at least one 700-level course per year in German and growing), there is a need to create separate course numbers for them. In addition to creating a separate number on the 700-level (s. separate Add request), a dedicated course number on the 500-level should be created, in order to – to allow faculty to offer courses that prepare students systematically for 700-level topics courses in linguistics, - allow minors (who typically do not reach the 700-level) to enroll in at least one course that focuses on linguistics and thus broaden the scope of their minor.

FROM: MUSIC 210 – Music Theory I. (3) I, II. Music Theory 1 is an introduction to the basic language of music; scales, triads and seventh chords, and all simple intervals. Written and aural skills reinforce concepts of melody, rhythm, and harmony. Pr.: Tested knowledge of basic music reading and aural skills. K-State 8: None.

TO: MUSIC 210 – Music Theory I. (3) I, II. Music Theory I is an introduction to the basic language of music; scales, triads and seventh chords, and all simple intervals. Written and aural skills reinforce concepts of melody, rhythm, and harmony. Pr.: Tested knowledge of basic music reading and aural skills. K-State 8: Aesthetic Experience and Interpretive Understanding RATIONALE: When the courses in the music program were originally tagged for K-State 8, Music Theory I was somehow skipped. All of the other Music Theory classes (2-4) and Music Fundamentals (non-major Music Theory), Music Listening Lab, History of Rock & Roll, as well as all of the Aural Skills classes and most other music classes are tagged for “Aesthetic Experience and Interpretive Understanding”. Theory 1 is the beginning course of a four-semester sequence of Music Theory. It makes sense that all Theory classes should have the same K-State 8 tag.

Physics

FROM: PHYS 191 – Descriptive Astronomy. (3) II. A qualitative study of the sun and planets, stars and galaxies; a survey of what is known about the universe and how it is known. 3 lecture hours per week.

TO: PHYS 191 – Descriptive Astronomy. (3) II. A qualitative study of the earth, sun, planets, stars, galaxies and the universe; a survey of what is known about the universe and how we know it. 2 lecture hours and 2 lab hours per week.

RATIONALE: We request that this PHYS 191 be changed from three lectures per week to two lectures per week plus one two-hour lab per week. This change is motivated by the desire to get more hands-on activities for the student. With such activities, the students will develop a better appreciation and understanding for the methods of science, how we know what we know, which is very important in our modern world. Furthermore, this class with a lab will allow it to satisfy the lab-based science requirement that many majors require, hence give it a pragmatic appeal.

IMPACT: The addition of the lab component will allow it to satisfy the lab-based science requirement that many majors require.

Philosophy

FROM: PHILO 297 – Honors Introduction to the Humanities I. (3) I. Study of selected major works of history, literature, and philosophy which have been of central importance in the Western cultural tradition. Considerable emphasis is placed on classroom discussion and writing interpretive essays. Pr.: Consent of instructor.
K-State 8: None.

Considerable emphasis is placed on classroom discussion and writing interpretive essays. Pr.: Consent of instructor.
K-State 8: Aesthetic Experience and Interpretive Understanding; Global Issues and Perspectives

RATIONALE: K-State 8 values added to match cross-listed courses. ENGL 297, HIST 297, and MLANG 297.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Spring 2013

ADD: PHILO 303 – Writing Philosophy. (3) I. Introduction to philosophical composition to develop skills necessary to succinctly explicate single arguments, dialectics relating several arguments, and critical analyses of arguments. Philosophical topics covered vary, but typically are related to understanding ourselves and our moral practices. K-State 8: Aesthetic Experience and Interpretive Understanding.

RATIONALE: As our curriculum is currently structured, many of our majors are developing critical writing skills only in upper division classes. The difficulty of mastering the skills is there compounded by the difficulty of the material about which they are writing. This course, required in our newly restructured curriculum, should enable students to develop the necessary technical skills working with relatively simple topics, thereby easing their path through the major and improving retention.

FROM: PHILO 305 – Philosophical Methods and Perspectives. (3) II. Special knowledge, methods and skills needed to do philosophical research. Conceptual analysis, argument strategy, definitional strategy, thought experiments, counter examples, applied to the mechanics of paper writing in philosophy and philosophical discussion. Pr.: One course in philosophy, major standing, or consent of instructor. K-State 8: None.

RATIONALE: The focus of this course has shifted to decision theory to the exclusion of other elements of philosophical method (treated now in other courses), in response to the demands upper division courses place on our majors. Hence, the new name and course description are undertaken to increase clarity and accuracy of the course description.

ADD: PHILO 335 – Introduction to Social and Political Philosophy. (3) I. Introduction to modern social and political philosophy, examining questions about central political values, such as equal citizenship, property rights, distributive justice, fairness, and democratic social and political institutions. Pr.: One course in philosophy or major standing. K-State 8: Ethical Reasoning and Responsibility.

RATIONALE: Philo 335 is a new course devoted to social and political philosophy. Core elements were previously covered in Philo 330, but in insufficient breadth. Our new curriculum splits what was Philo 330 Moral and Political Philosophy into two courses, Philo 330 Moral Philosophy and Philo 335 Social and Political Philosophy, which will afford students a broader and deeper introduction to political philosophy, better preparing them for upper division course work.

between physical and non-physical (e.g. mental) properties. Pr.: One course in philosophy or major standing.

RATIONALE: Our new curriculum splits the introductory discussions of topics in metaphysics and epistemology, currently conducted in Philo 340 Theories of Knowledge and Reality, into two courses. PHILO 345 Worlds, Things and Properties will treat the somewhat expanded, core topics in metaphysics.

Philosophy

Philosophy BA/BS

The program in philosophy gives students an understanding of traditional philosophical subjects such as the nature and justification of moral values, religious and scientific explanations of the world, the rationality of social institutions, and the nature of reasoning and argument.

There are seven degree options for the BA and BS degree:

- Standard Philosophy Option
- Pre-graduate School Option
- Philosophy/Pre-law Option
- Philosophy/Pre-business Option
- Philosophy/Pre-ministry Option
- Philosophy/Interdisciplinary Option
- Philosophy/Pre-med Option

Bachelor's degree requirements

Philosophy Major Core curriculum (15 credit hours)

All philosophy majors must take the following five courses:

- PHILO 300 – History of Ancient Philosophy
  Credits: (3)
- PHILO 301 – History of Modern Philosophy
  Credits: (3)
- PHILO 320 – Symbolic Logic I
  Credits: (3)
- PHILO 330 – Moral and Political Philosophy
  Credits: (3)
- PHILO 340 – Theories of Knowledge and Reality
  Credits: (3)

Standard philosophy option

This option is for students who are interested in a traditional liberal arts course of study.

While no one major is given preference by law school admission boards, law schools recognize the value of philosophy for refining skills in expression, comprehension, and critical thinking. According to the Pre-Law Handbook, "the free and spirited consideration of philosophical questions is almost the model for legal training."

The department offers two degree options:

Single Major Option (36 credit hours)

- Core Curriculum Credits: (24)
- PHILO 535 – Philosophy of Law Credits: (3)
- Related Area Component Credits: (3)
  - Choose from PHILO 525 – Social and Political Philosophy or PHILO 585 – Ethics
- Philosophy Electives Credits: (6)

One of the electives must be at the 500 level or above.

Interdisciplinary Option (30 credit hours)

- Core Curriculum Credits: (24)
- PHILO 535 – Philosophy of Law Credits: (3)
- Philosophy Electives Credits: (3)
- Completion of another major in the College of Arts and Sciences

Philosophy/pre-business option

The pre-business option is for students who plan to do graduate work leading to a master’s in business administration. This program has been developed in accordance with the results of surveys in professional business journals that rate this type of program as an excellent preparation for careers in business leadership.

Single Major Option (36 credit hours)

- Core curriculum Credits: (24)
- PHILO 380 – Business
  - Choose from PHILO 525 – Social and Political Philosophy, PHILO 585 – Ethics, PHILO 650 – Rationality and Action, or PHILO 665 – Philosophy of Economics
- Philosophy Electives Credits: (6)

Double Major Option (30 credit hours)

This option is for students who wish to combine a philosophy/pre-business degree with an undergraduate degree in the College of Business Administration.
• PHILO 510 – Symbolic Logic II Credits: (3)
• PHILO 525 – Social-Political Philosophy Credits: (3)
• PHILO 535 – Philosophy of Law Credits: (3)

• PHILO 380 – Business Ethics Credits: (3)
• Philosophy Electives* Credits: (3)

Philosophy/pre-med option

While on one major is given preference by medical schools and related post-graduate programs, their admission committees recognize philosophy as a valuable primary or secondary major. In fact, surveys indicate that nationally, philosophy graduates have some of the highest acceptance rates at medical schools. Students in this program will be advised to supplement their education with an important science component.

2. PHILO 680 Problems in Philosophy (3 credit hours) must focus on the relationship of philosophy to the student’s other major; the student must write a substantial paper on that relationship for this course.

Philosophy/pre-med option

While no one major is given preference by medical schools and related post-graduate programs, their admission committees recognize philosophy as a valuable primary or secondary major. In fact, surveys indicate that nationally, philosophy graduates have some of the highest acceptance rates at medical medicals. Students in this program will be advised to supplement their education with an important science component.

Philosophy course requirements (33 credit hours)

- Core curriculum Credits: (15)

RATIONALE: To better enable majors to conduct undergraduate research in upper division classes, we propose reorganizing our major. The central features of this re-organization are these: 1) a more comprehensive set of introductory skills classes. Ensuring that majors develop the necessary writing and formal analytic skills before they begin taking upper division classes; 2) a broader set of core content courses, insuring that students have the necessary breadth of background to situate current philosophic debates both conceptually and historically; while 3) retaining flexibility at the upper level for students to devote their energies to domains and topics most relevant to their interests and post-graduate plans. We expect that the new, more comprehensive set of core courses will enable instructors to help students engage core issues at a level of sophistication appropriate to potential publication of results. In particular, the new core will enable our formally inclined students to engage value-oriented topics in epistemology, metaphysics and philosophy of science.

Offered through the Family Studies and Human Services graduate program, the objective of the certificate program in youth development administration is to train graduates to understand and apply conceptual approaches to youth development, and to display an understanding of the development and impact of local, regional, state, federal, and global policies on youth, as well as the impact of family and cultural influences on positive youth outcomes. They will also be able to develop and apply resources for successful implementation and management of youth-serving organizations.

The certificate requires 12 credit hours chosen from a list of approved courses in addition to a one-hour foundations course.

This program is a collaborative, multi-institution effort with course work delivered via the Internet/World Wide Web. Faculty from Kansas State University, Michigan State University, University of Missouri, University of Nebraska and North Dakota State University share knowledge and expertise in youth development. These land-grant universities are members of the Great Plains Interactive Distance Education Alliance and have a history of success in distance education.

Admission to the certificate program follows the standard Graduate School admission requirements and processes. Applications are accepted twice (Feb. 1, Sept. 1) in each academic year.

Rationale: The Youth Development Administration Graduate Certificate program has had no admissions or enrollments. Consequently, discontinuation is merited (University Handbook Appendix K Section B(2d)).
