

Problem with printing some PDF documents: Text shows on document online, but not when I print it.

If you view a document modified in Acrobat 5.0 in Acrobat 6.0 or higher you will see all of the text displayed on your screen, but when you attempt to print that document you will find that some text is not printed. The text that is not printed is modified text.

This is because Acrobat 6 sees these modifications as "Comments" and Acrobat 7 sees these modifications as "Markups."

In Acrobat 5.0 the "Comments" box on the print menu is checked by default but in Acrobat 6.0 and above there is no check box.

In your Acrobat 6 print window look for "Print What:" and choose "Document and comments". Once you choose "Documents and comments" it becomes the default.

In your Acrobat 7 print window look for "Comments and Forms" and choose "Documents and Markups." Once you choose "Documents and Markups" it becomes the default.
