The Fulbright Commission will fund nine Fulbright Summer Institutes to the United Kingdom in Summer 2018. Each institute accepts approximately 4-10 students with two years of undergraduate study left from the U.S. Exchanges are three to four weeks in length. A more complete explanation for each institute can be found on their website at www.fulbright.org.uk/going-to-the-uk/uk-summer-institutes.

Film and Media

University of Birmingham: July 12 – August 3

Gain a comprehensive picture of film and media and their place in modern society
- Participate in modules on film and media culture in the UK
- Take field trips to the Warner Bros Studio where Harry Potter films were produced and the BBC Centre in the Mailbox

Scotland: Technology, Innovation, and Creativity

University of Strathclyde/Glasgow School of Art: July 23 – August 10

Earn unique perspectives on how creativity is shaping Scotland’s future
- Visit Scottish Parliament, museums, galleries, and historical sites
- Emphasis on pioneering role as technological nation
- Explore forces that shape Scotland’s identity and their country’s place in the world

Arts, Activism, and Social Justice

University of Bristol: June 4 – June 29

Investigate the impact of various art forms on movements for social justice across the globe
- Learn about racial justice/slavery, colonialism, global feminism, migration and refugees, environmental sustainability, and health and well-being
- Participate in two cultural excursions of your choice, such as an archaeological dig, comedy night, etc..

Understanding ‘Britishness’ and British culture

University of Sussex: June 25 – July 19

Choose from several modules related to British culture in different capacities (see list on website)
- Live and learn in the iconic seaside city of Brighton
- Take fieldtrips to Bath ad Stonehenge, Warner Bros Studio in London, etc..

Future Leaders in a Global Age

University of Westminster: July 7 – 28

Explore the cosmopolitan and metropolitan dimensions of the university while choosing from a broad range of courses
- Use London as a classroom and live in an international context
- Attend two specialist workshops designed to examine and challenge intercultural competencies

Identity and Nationhood – Contemporary Issues

Aberystwyth University: June 30 – July 20

Engage in a stimulating mixture of classroom work and experiential learning
- Draw on interdisciplinary research happening in the Centre for Welsh Politics and Society
- Attend various trips, such as a dolphin spotting boat trip, Owain Glyndwr Centre, and Senedd in Cardiff

Shakespeare’s Globe Education, London

American Institute for Foreign Study: June 10 – June 29

Further the experience and international understanding of Shakespeare in performance
- Includes both acting and understanding of text
- Workshops focusing on combat/sword play, movement, dancing, and design
- Watch performances at the Globe; includes Q&A with actors

Climate Change and the Environment

University of Exeter: June 20 – July 18

Learn about environmental change and its consequences
- Taught by Exeter’s Geography Dept.: Top 25 in world
- Choose academic programme with various focuses available
- Explore historic Exeter; visit London, Bath, St. Ives

Understanding Ireland: Northern Perspectives

Queen’s University Belfast: June 25 – July 20

Learn about Northern Ireland’s political, economic, and cultural relationships with UK and the world
- Three class options: Irish Studies, Conflict Transformation and Social Justice or Education for Transformation
- Take classes alongside students from other cultures
- Various field trips are possible with this institute