

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

Faculty-Led Group Study Abroad Programs

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

Development of Faculty-Led Group Study Abroad Programs

The K-State Study Abroad Program invites qualified K-State professors and instructors to teach faculty-led group study abroad programs for undergraduate and graduate students. The Study Abroad Program assists faculty in program planning and administration through continuous support and service.

- DEADLINE FOR WINTER BREAK & SPRING BREAK 2010: June 1, 2009
- DEADLINE FOR SUMMER 2010: October 12, 2009
- Due to K-State ISIS guidelines, on time proposals are required

Personal and Professional Benefits of Teaching Abroad

- Teach in an Experiential Learning Environment
- Unique Student-Professor Relationship
- Enrich Your Teaching and Research
- Cultural Immersion and Learning
- Network with International Colleagues

Faculty Leader Compensation

- Faculty who teach faculty-led group study abroad programs are eligible to receive salary or DRA
- Faculty travel expenses are factored into program budget (including airfare, lodging, meals, international medical insurance, in-country transportation, transportation to/from U.S. point of departure, tour fees, etc.)

Steps to Teaching a Group Study Abroad Program

- Contact Rose Redington, Coordinator of Faculty Services at 532-1698 / rosered@ksu.edu to set-up a meeting to discuss opportunities
- Review Faculty Leader Information and Resources available on the Study Abroad Program website at: <http://www.k-state.edu/studyabroad>
- Complete Program Proposal and Program Budgets
- Collaborate with the Coordinator of Faculty Services for program development and implementation
- Teach abroad and enjoy your experience!
- Complete a Faculty Leader Program Evaluation upon your return to the U.S.

Interested in Becoming a K-State International Educator? For more information, please contact Rose Redington, Coordinator of Faculty Services at rosered@ksu.edu / 532-1698