Service Learning

PROGRAM

This service learning project will provide pre-service teachers the opportunity to collaborate with K-State faculty and other special education professionals in Kansas to develop a deeper understanding of inclusive school practices such as co-teaching and differentiated instruction. This program offers a unique perspective to study special education policies and practices as they develop in a country which has only recently embraced the philosophy that persons with disabilities have rights as citizens.

DATES

Travel Dates: July 15 – July 31, 2010

FACULTY LEADER

Dr. Marilyn Kaff, Associate Professor in the Department of Special Education, Counseling and Student Affairs. In Tanzania, Dr. Kaff has participated in a program focused on providing instruction for pre-service teachers for special education. She has done much research on the impacts of public policies on K-16 educators and students.

CREDIT

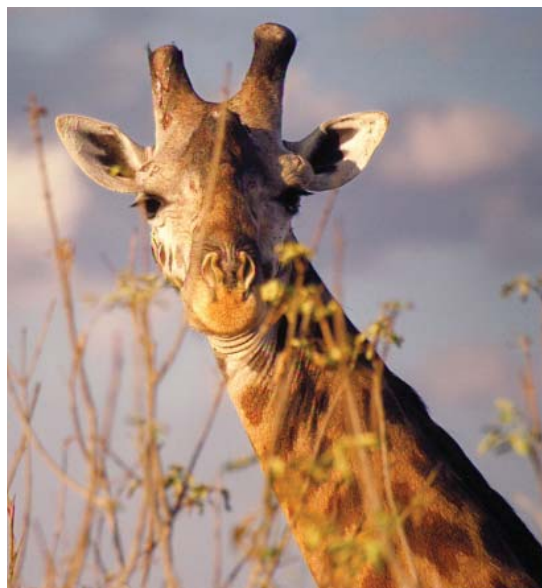

Upon successful completion of the course, 3 K-State undergraduate or graduate credits will be awarded for EDSP 795: Problems in Special Education: Service Learning in Tanzania.
