K-State Exchanges *Out-of-state students pay in-state tuition!*

Earth Science in Iceland, Reykjavik, Iceland

<http://www.isep.org>

The University of Iceland offers a special program in English in earth science, covering topics in geology, geography, and geophysics. Emphasis will be put on aspects of Icelandic geology like volcanic and geothermal activity, glaciers and plate tectonics, as well as physical and human geography. A minimum background of one year of undergraduate study in earth science is assumed. Iceland is exceptionally well suited for the study of various geological processes. Due to its geographical position in the North Atlantic, and its geotectonic position over a mantle plume and astride the Mid-Atlantic Ridge, geological and tectonic processes are extraordinarily rapid and easily observed. Geologists and geographers will benefit from studying how the forces of nature created Iceland, and how they shape the people living in Iceland. On this program, students will pay tuition, fees, room and board to Kansas State. ISEP deadlines are earlier than those of most other programs.

University of Hertfordshire, Hertsfield, England

<http://www.herts.ac.uk>

An hour from London, the University of Hertfordshire gives you the best of both worlds: you'll live in an active university town with pubs, cinemas and shopping centers, but have easy access to the bustle and nightlife of London. Students will pay tuition and fees and K-State and housing costs to the host university. Take classes in biology, math, history, English, psychology and many other subjects, including geography, geographical information systems, and environmental sciences. This exchange is best for a full-year or spring semester, since fall term runs until late January.

University College Cork, Cork, Ireland

<http://www.ucc.ie> and <http://www.umsl.edu/services/abroad/maui>

The beautiful campus of University College Cork is centered around a quadrangle of stone buildings and is located upon a riverside close to the city center. Cork, a busy seaport, is the second largest city in Ireland, and has a population of 150,000. Students can study just about anything, including geography and geology. Through K-State's membership in the MAUI consortium, students will pay tuition and fees to KSU and housing and board to the host university.

ISEP Programs in Hong Kong, Fiji and the Netherlands

<http://www.isep.org>

K-State is a member of ISEP, an international exchange program that allows K-State students to study at universities all over the world while paying tuition, fees, room and board to Kansas State.

- At the Chinese University of Hong Kong, almost half of the classes are taught in English. The Department of Geography and Resource Management offers 40 classes in English. Explore Asia from this unique location.
- Spend Spring semester in the Netherlands while taking geographical sciences classes in English at the University of Utrecht.
- Both geography and earth sciences are among the many subjects offered in English at the University of South Pacific in Fiji.

Study at this picturesque campus in the Northwest of England. The department of Natural, Geographical and Applied Sciences offers undergraduate programs in Earth and Environmental Science, Geography, Human Geography, Physical Geography and Geology.

Australearn programs in Australia and New Zealand

<http://www.australearn.com>

Spend a semester in Australia or New Zealand through Australearn. Many Australian and New Zealand universities offer geography and geology majors, and Australearn can facilitate your enrollment at one of these universities. You'll begin your program with an orientation, which will include an outdoor activity such as snorkeling on the Great Barrier Reef, and you'll have the chance spend a weekend volunteering on a wildlife conservation project.
