

Source: Courtney Hauser, hauser2@k-state.edu
(785) 532-6571

Tuesday, January 29

WILL FERRELL ENCOURAGES K-STATE STUDENTS TO ADD FACEBOOK APPLICATION

In anticipation of Will Ferrell's Funny or Die Comedy Tour Presented by Semi-Pro, a competition between the seven college tour stops has been created.

Ferrell asks all Facebook.com members to add the Funny or Die application to their personal profile. The tour stop with the most adds will receive prizes, featuring a stuffed hammerhead shark signed by Ferrell and tour winner bragging rights.

According to funnyordie.com, Kansas State University, the first stop on the tour, currently holds the lead.

The competition ends when Ferrell and fellow comedians Zach Galifianakis, Demetri Martin and Nick Swardson take the stage at 8 p.m. Monday, February 4, in Bramlage Coliseum.

To help K-State win this competition, please log onto:
<http://www.funnyordie.com/promos/facebook>, watch Ferrell talk about the contest and install the Facebook application.

The K-State Student Union Program Council is sponsoring the performance. For more information about the tour or other UPC events, check out www.k-state.edu/upc.

###