

Women of K-State: A campus group headed by our own First Lady, Dr. Noel Schulz. Here are two activities she has shared via the Listserve to start off the Spring Semester – 1) Women’s Basketball on 2/9 (tickets only $3) and 2) Opera Benefit Concert on 2/13.

See details below

1. Today is National Girls and Women in Sports Day. The theme is “Play, Believe, Achieve.” Our own Shalee Lehning (K-State graduate, Assistant Coach for WBB, and WNBA Atlanta Dream player) shared what sports have meant to her on the WNBA website (see http://www.wnba.com/dream/news/the_dream_shalee_celebrate_2011_01_31.html)

Please read below to learn about K-State’s plans to celebrate this day at our next home basketball game Wednesday, February 9 at 7 pm. Arrive early (doors open at 6 pm) to meet and greet our women Olympic student athletes. Tickets through the Women of K-State (see below) are $3 and include a food voucher.

2. One of the great things about Women of K-State is how we use our talents to help advance different parts of K-State. Women of K-State include students, faculty, staff, administrators, alumnae and friends. The K-State Department of Music and Friends of the K-State Opera are presenting a benefit concert for K-State Opera featuring international opera star (and spouse of a K-State faculty member) Nancy Maultby on Sunday, February 13 at 4:30 in All Faiths Chapel. Additional information on the concert and tickets are available at the below websites. The cost to attend the recital and reception is $75.
