All ISA Internship locations have the option to intern in English, unless the participant has host language proficiency.

Argentina, Chile, Ireland, England, and more

Academic Programs International Internships

STEM majors can find it more challenging to study abroad. However, a STEM internship can provide a great alternative allowing you to gain valuable practical hands on experience and cultural immersion at the same time. STEM grads can benefit by having international experience in this global economy. Added bonus—STEM students also have access to a number of scholarship opportunities not available to other majors as well!
