Standard scheduling times for classes (course sections) provide students with maximum scheduling flexibility, allow departments to meet unique needs, and to more efficiently utilize instructional space. Courses exempt from these standard class meeting time policies, are 1) specialized programs such as institutes, non-university credit training sessions, workshops, conference courses, certificate programs, grant related courses, intersession courses, and off campus courses which do not conflict with the use of campus space by on campus academic activities, 2) any course which is taught remotely using various delivery methods such as an audio tapes, audio communication lines, electronic blackboards, tv links, video tapes, CD-ROMs, and all forms of internet communications, and 3) graduate classes (course numbers 800 and above) which do not need access to general classroom use (GSU) space.

Any time periods associated with a course in which a student is not required to participate in order to earn academic credit, such as help sessions, will not be listed in the official "Course Schedule." These sessions must be scheduled through the Facilities Room Reservation Office and care should be exercised to prevent conflicts with course sections required for credit and course tests.

The policies below are to be used for scheduling all classes (course sections) for all academic sessions. This policy provides a common framework for scheduling classes.

Requirements regarding the distribution of classes across this framework are to be addressed separately, as the need arises. Current requirements can be found in Section F50 of the University Handbook.

A standard academic day begins at 7:15 a.m. and ends at 10:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday. Standard class meeting periods within the academic day are established in the tables below.

All fifteen-week semester lecture/recitation class periods are to adhere to the following guidelines and Table 1. (Figure 1 provides visual clarification)

One Credit Hour Courses

1. One credit hour course sections should be scheduled in time slots left open due to two-hour course sections being scheduled on any two-day combination sequence. Standard 50-minute period starting times must be used.

Two Credit Hour Courses

1. Two credit hour courses with sections meeting on two separate days each week must utilize Standard 50-minute periods with the preferred combination days, MW, MF, TU, TS, WF, and US.

Three Credit Hour Courses

1. Three credit-hour courses with sections meeting on three separate days each week must schedule Standard 50-minute periods on an M-W-F sequence, or a T-U-S sequence.
2. Three credit-hour courses with sections meeting on two separate days each week must use Standard 75-minute periods on T-U. A M-W or W-F sequence could be scheduled because of extenuating circumstances and if approved by CAPP.

Four Credit Hour Courses

1. Four credit hour course sections may be scheduled for Standard 50-minute periods during any four-day sequence.

Five or greater Credit Hour Courses

1. Five credit hour course sections must seek guidance and approval from CAPP to enhance the opportunity of students to enroll in additional classes and provide efficient use of space.

Variable Credit Hour Courses

1. Variable credit-hour courses must follow A through E above or be arranged by appointment to meet the needs of enrolled students.

* The schedule for 75-minute periods presented for Tuesday-Thursday classes may also be used as an alternative class schedule on Monday-Wednesday evenings beginning at 5:30 p.m. (e.g., 5:30 - 6:45, etc.). Use of 75-minute periods for a Monday-Wednesday or Wednesday-Friday sequence before 5:30 p.m. requires approval (IV-A).

Laboratory, Studio, and Multiple-Hour Class Meeting Times

All fifteen-week semester laboratories and studios meeting one or more times per week, and classes with multiple-hour periods are to adhere to the following guidelines and Table 2 (Figure 1 provides visual clarification):

Laboratories and studios with 50-minute class periods.

1. Laboratory classes with 50-minute periods are to be scheduled to correspond with the starting/ending times of the Standard 50-minute class periods

Laboratories, studios, and classes with multiple-hour class periods meeting only one day per week during a regular semester.

1. Laboratories, studios, and classes with multiple-hour class periods meeting only one day per week are to be scheduled according to the appropriate standard class meeting time according to Table 2 (see also Figure 1).
2. A morning section of a multiple-hour laboratory class may be scheduled only if an afternoon section is also provided. If an afternoon lab is offered, there is no requirement that a morning lab also be offered.

11:30-1:20, 1:30-3:20, and 3:30-5:20 are alternate periods to replace these two 110-min. afternoon class periods when student demands require a department to schedule five periods during the day. Does not require CAPP approval, but if five periods are not consistently used, CAPP may deny future use of this alternative schedule.

Summer Semester/Session Classes

Summer session classes will be scheduled according to the Board of Regents-approved calendar and scheduled as outlined in Table 3

Classes offered outside of this schedule must be approved by CAPP as non-standard courses unless identified in paragraph 1 of this policy.

Departments may request a non-standard schedule if several classes will be offered outside of the approved Board of Regents calendar. This request must be approved by CAPP as a non-standard request.

Non-Standard Class Times

Petitions

1. Petitions for any variations from standard class times must be approved by the Committee on Academic Policy and Procedures (CAPP).
2. A petition form may be obtained from the instructor's Dean's Office. The form must be returned to the instructor's Dean's Office and given to the Dean's representative on CAPP, who will present it to CAPP for consideration.
3. Petitions for spring semester courses must be considered by May. Petitions for fall semesters and summer session courses must be considered by November (CAPP meets the second Wednesday of each month, August through May).

Reviews

1. Petitions that have been approved for non-standard times will be reviewed annually each March by CAPP.
2. The Standard Class Meeting Times policy will be reviewed annually, between the Spring and Fall semesters by CAPP, to determine its effectiveness and to improve any problem areas that arise in the implementation of the policy.
