

HOMEOWNER and HOUSING ADVOCATE*

I am married.

I worked in the non-profit and education sectors, and served in local government.

"Low-income people are to some degree invisible here. We find ways to support them, but we are not finding ways to lift them up out of poverty....And it is so multi-layered. I mean, locally we do what we can...."

"The need is increasing... it's not getting any less. Shepherd's Crossing helps with rent, the amount they have given out this year is staggering."

"We've had discussions in this community over years about trying to... address density issue.... We have a tendency to talk a good talk, but when it comes time to execute, the economics don't allow it to happen."
