Celebrating Our Future

Dear Graduates,

On behalf of Kansas State University, we extend our sincerest congratulations and best wishes on your graduation.

In these unprecedented times, which forced the delay of our in-person ceremonies, we commend the persistence and determination you have shown in earning your degree. Your diligence and resilience in completing this milestone will also serve you well in your future endeavors. We can't wait to welcome you back to campus for fall commencement and personally hand you your diplomas and let you celebrate with your K-State family as well as your own families and friends.

We hope you use the knowledge and preparation you received at K-State to move forward and make a difference throughout your life — in the career field, in the community and in other worthy pursuits. Please know that Kansas State University will always encourage you along the way. You are now part of our network of more than 200,000 proud alumni worldwide. We urge you to remain connected to the university through the K-State Alumni Association, which, along with each college, is providing you and fellow graduates with a year's free membership.

Find opportunities to return to campus too, whether to continue your education, share your experiences and expertise with future K-Staters, take in an athletic or cultural event, or just to catch up on your alma mater.

Congratulations and best wishes for the future,

*I know a spot that I love full well,
'Tis not in forest nor yet in dell;
Ever it holds me with magic spell,
I think of thee, Alma Mater.*

*K-S-U, we'll carry the banner high.
K-S-U, long, long may thy colors fly.
Loyal to thee, thy children will swell the cry.
Hail, Hail, Hail, Alma Mater.*

Kansas State University is pleased to recognize spring 2020 graduates who have completed their advanced degrees. Congratulations to each of you on your outstanding achievements and contributions to your respective graduate program, the university and your community. A special thank you to the graduates who have and continue to serve in our military to protect our freedom. We are proud of each of you.

Your success is the result of your hard work, dedication, taking advantage of opportunities, learning by doing, learning from mistakes, and perseverance to achieve your goal. The graduate faculty and the Graduate School team wish you all the best as you go out into the world and make your unique mark.

We hope each of you will stay engaged with Kansas State University, seek opportunities to serve as mentors to students, keep your mentor updated on your successes — for there will be many — and recruit more excellent students to K-State. Remember, you are our best ambassador and recruiter. You are encouraged to be an active member of the K-State family by sharing your talents and gifts to support future graduate students and to enhance the graduate student experience.

Again, congratulations on your graduation! As you have experienced, things do not always go as we have planned or want them to, but life has a way of taking new directions and turning them into opportunities. I am confident that you will continue to succeed in life.

College of Veterinary Medicine

Bonnie Rush

Congratulations, class of 2020. You are the 115th graduating class from the College of Veterinary Medicine.

We will never forget the circumstances of the class of 2020, and despite the loss of "Pomp and Circumstance," the life-changing moment of your graduation is not lost.

Take time today to reflect on your first memory of wanting to be a veterinarian. Tens of thousands of little moments added up to this dream. Many people started along this same path with you. Very few maintained the discipline or determination to be with you at the finish line.

You arrived to this day through planning, sacrifice and perseverance. You have worked hard. In all that work, inside these walls, you found lifelong friends. Your life will never be the same. You are joining a select group of professionals. Veterinarians are talented, hard-working, committed and compassionate people.

In fact, this is your new superpower and it is yours forever. With great power, there is great responsibility to advocate for those who cannot advocate for themselves. There is also great responsibility to care for yourself to ensure you will be at your best and use your gifts to the fullest for the next 50 years.

A career that you will love and cherish, all the days of your life, lies ahead to care for all creatures great and small. Your moment has arrived. Congratulations on this incredible achievement.

Amit Chakrabarti

Dear graduates,

I would like to offer you my enthusiastic congratulations on your graduation. Even though these are challenging times and graduation doesn't look the same this year, I want you to know that we in the college and those in your departments know how much hard work you have put in over the years, and we recognize your achievement.

Even though you weren't able to participate in a commencement ceremony, you still have cause for celebration. You have graduated from a college that has prepared you to navigate a quickly changing and often complicated world. The skills you have gained will benefit you greatly in our current world climate and for the rest of your life.

Thank you for choosing K-State; thank you for making an impact on your college and university; and once again — congratulations. We are so very proud of you, and we know there are great things in store.

Stay K-State Strong, and we'll see you soon.

College of Architecture, Planning & Design

Tim de Noble, FAIA

To our APDesign graduates,

Extraordinary times reveal extraordinary character.

This is the lesson I have seen in our 2020 graduates, completing your professional studies and entering the world of practice in this time of pandemic. In normal times you are embedded in one of the most demanding and rewarding educational models ever devised. While many of the activities typical of our unique educational model were altered or truncated, your resilience and resolve to continue your preparation toward design and planning leadership continued undeterred. For this reason, in addition to celebrating your individual commencement, this class of 2020 will always be remembered for its temerity in the face of the obstacles of our age.

Unique to the five-year nonbaccalaureate group, you began in Seaton Hall your first year, spent your second year at APDWest, returned to new, beautiful Seaton and Regnier halls, only to be unseated in your final semester, dispersed to complete your studies remotely. Through it all, and in concert with the transfers and postbaccalaureate master's students, you have proven to be one of the most accomplished classes to course through our college. You have built an esprit de corps second to none, which will serve you well as you all work together in advancing design and design leadership as a primary change agent in our society.

Congratulations on your accomplishments, individual and collective. We wish you the best and hope you return to the fold of Seaton and Regnier halls often, as your predecessors continue to do, in advancing our teaching/learning model.

Debbie Mercer

Dear class of 2020,

Graduation is here! The day you've dreamed of — the day we celebrate a momentous achievement in your life.

When you started this journey at Kansas State University, I'm certain you pictured your graduation day as a joyful event, surrounded by loved ones as you crossed the stage and received your diploma. That's what we had planned, but fate stepped in and rearranged our plans — and lives.

The class of 2020 holds a special place in the hearts of the faculty in our college. We watched with tremendous respect and sometimes awe as you seamlessly transitioned to online teaching while balancing your coursework. On the front lines of history, you jumped into action and witnessed firsthand how important schools — and teachers — are to students and their communities. You were meaningful contributors to student success during this unprecedented school year. Treasure that.

You've also added an entirely new dimension to our maxim "Educators Powered by Purpose" and are uniquely prepared to impact the future in profound ways. As members of an elite group of battle-tested future teachers, you now clearly see you have the tools to succeed in any situation. You've made history, and you've made us proud.

Go into the world and shine your light, make a difference, and always remember success is the only possible outcome when you are powered by purpose.

College of Business Administration

Kevin Gwinner

Congratulations, graduates! Although different than we planned, we are thankful to celebrate your graduation from the College of Business Administration at Kansas State University. Your graduation culminates your hard work and sacrifice in the pursuit of knowledge, a meaningful career and a promising future.

Commencement is my favorite time of year. I enjoy the ceremony, the inspiring speakers and especially, shaking your hands as you walk across the stage. I will miss sharing that time with you, and I know you will, too. However, please remember that K-State and the CBA invite you back to campus to walk in our next commencement. I hope you will be able to join us.

Each graduate has a community of family and friends that has given you encouragement and support while you have pursued a degree. Your community includes faculty and staff members who have worked diligently with you. I hope that you will take time to express your appreciation to those who have been a part of your success.

It has been the privilege of the college's administration, faculty and staff to assist you in achieving your academic goals and in preparing you for career success. We are proud of you and excited to see where your journey takes you.

K-State is family and you will always be a part of the Wildcat nation and the College of Business Administration.

Again, congratulations and best wishes for every success.

College of Agriculture

Ernie Minton

Congratulations!

This is not how any of us planned to commemorate this important day. You worked hard to earn your degree, and I wish you could celebrate as you had planned. I wish I could be there to shake your hand and say a heartfelt "job well done."

While the celebration may be diminished, the knowledge you have gained has never been more recognized or valued. Whether you are a scientist, economist, teacher, communicator, business or community leader, your skills will be essential in helping us find solutions for our new world.

As a K-Stater, you stand on the shoulders of many great men and women who came before you. President Abraham Lincoln was the first. He was confident that agriculture, science and engineering education were key in improving lives and livelihoods. It was during the height of the Civil War that he signed the act establishing the land-grant university system. In that time of upheaval, Lincoln believed not only in the power of education but also in the strength of the people and their commitment to serve.

K-State became the country's first operational land-grant college. For generations, our alumni and faculty have led in advancing agriculture, food systems, horticulture and natural resources, relying on traits that seem to define us best: ingenuity, determination and commitment to helping others.

As a new graduate of the K-State College of Agriculture, this is your legacy. You have earned your place among many great problem-solvers, and I am confident you, too, will leave your mark.

College of Health and Human Sciences

John Buckwalter

To the class of 2020, congratulations on your graduation, which means so much more than the ceremony, the cap and gown, and the paper diploma. While it will not appear on your final transcripts, credits in regard to the vicissitudes of life were definitely awarded your final semester.

Armed with the lessons learned at K-State and your newly minted degrees, you are ready — ready to acquire new skills, forge a new path and face the familiar and the novel challenges that lay ahead. As college graduates, you are a privileged group. This distinction will allow you to access opportunities that you cannot even imagine. Embrace the journey. Along the way, invest yourself in the lives of others, your community and your alma mater.

The faculty and staff in the College of Health and Human Sciences and Kansas State University are extremely proud of each of you. While we wish we could gather with your families to express our delight in your achievements, the absence of a graduation ceremony does nothing to diminish your accomplishments.

Once again, congratulations and best wishes to the graduating class of 2020 from the College of Health and Human Sciences and your K-State family.

Carl R. Ice College of Engineering

Gary Clark

Spring commencement 2020 is a time to take pride in our accomplishments. This year in particular we look to how the college as a whole responded to the challenges of the global pandemic — from switching to online classes/labs and a virtual educational environment, and moving our offices home to continue with business, teaching and research operations; to quickly responding to numerous student needs, whether technical, educational or emotional.

This is a time of pride for our entire student body and its response to these changes. And today we hold a special pride in our graduating seniors — the group that represents the newest degree holders in engineering, construction science and computer science. You were called upon to complete your degree in a most unexpected way. Thank you all for rising to the occasion.

While it remains to be seen whether the class of 2020 will be the "first and only" or the "first of many" to have its educational process and graduation ceremonies altered by the pandemic, we do know this: Having been educated by highly respected faculty of national and international renown, you will go forward from this accomplishment armed with enhanced knowledge and experiences enabling you to make your mark and impact on the challenges facing society and the world.

I trust you will take great pride in the degree you will soon hold from Kansas State University and the Carl R. Ice College of Engineering, joining the ranks of our many and great alumni. Congratulations!

Gary Clark

Graduation honors

Bachelor's degree candidates who are earning graduation honors from Kansas State University receive a purple-and-white honor cord. Honors are awarded based on their K-State grade point average. Eligible students also must have completed a minimum of 60 undergraduate hours at K-State, with at least 42 undergraduate hours in graded courses at K-State.

K-State graduation honors:

Summa cum laude — For students with a 3.95 or above GPA.

Magna cum laude — For students with a 3.85-3.949 GPA.
