6) MICROCREDENTIALS - <https://kstate.curriculog.com/agenda:2688/form>

Senator Bilgili pointed out that the following microcredentials are non-credit so they do not require a committee vote; they are informational only. He reported that he and Senator Kouba had asked for a distinction between the two Writing with AI proposals, one is for credit and the other is not, and that it's made clear, which they did. He mentioned he is involved in the College of Business Admin proposals so has recused himself and only Senator Kouba will be involved with those. He said the College of business had a concern about the overlap with the Finances and the Farm microcredential. He anticipates they will access impact and find a productive way forward.

NON-CREDIT (do not require FSAAC vote)

College of Agriculture
Finances and the Farm (NC Microcredential)

College of Business Administration
AI-driven strategic decision-making: Leveraging SWOT analysis (NC Microcredential)
Artificial Intelligence and Human Resource Management: Leveraging AI for the Modern Workforce (NC Microcredential)

College of Tech & Aviation (Salina)
Advanced Technical Writing (NC Microcredential)
Standard Technical English (NC Microcredential)
Technical Editing Essentials (NC Microcredential)
Writing for Oral Communication (NC Microcredential)

8) New Business

Item a was added to the agenda by mistake. For Item b, this is the second reading. Senator Bilgili asked if there was a motion. Senator Berney and Birkhead moved and seconded. Karen Goos gave background on the post-bacc minor that this was not a recognized credential with any of our accrediting systems, and it was causing problems for students. When the post-bacc was created, it was considered a better credential than a certificate, but that is no longer the case. Discussion followed. The motion carried.

Item c was approved via email vote on March 19, so no further action is needed.

For elections, if anyone will be leaving the senator and/or stepping down from this committee, please let Susanne or the co-chairs know.

Senator Bilgili said item d, the proposed class time changes was still at CAPP.

There were no further committee reports.

As an announcement, Dr. Mohr-Schroeder reported that KBOR had approved all our gen eds for the coming year. It was the first time it had been done that way, and they learned a lot. Special thanks to Senator Gott for stepping up and representing K-State on system-wide Gen Ed moving forward.
