Faculty Senate

The Faculty Arm of Shared Governance at KSU

- allows for the voices of faculty and university professional staff members to be heard in the campus decision making process; and
- provides opportunities for jointly developed university policy and planning initiatives to occur.

Faculty Senate

The Faculty Arm of Shared Governance at KSU

- Is a representative body consisting of ninety two senators who are elected on a proportionate basis from each of the nine colleges of the university and from members of the university's professional staff.
- It has four standing committees with members drawn from across the full Senate's membership and an Executive Committee comprised of the Officers of the Senate and representatives from each college and the general university caucus.

Faculty Senate Structure and Procedures

University Handbook, Appendix E:
Constitution of the K-State Faculty Senate

Section A: Powers of the General Faculty

1. Traditionally, the faculties of colleges and universities have control of all matters dealing with the courses and curricula to be offered by the institution, and the granting of degrees.

These powers are subject to final approval by the Board of Regents.

Section A: Powers of the General Faculty

2. The general faculty of Kansas State University also has the authority to participate in the establishment of policies for the supervision and control of student affairs, faculty affairs, and public relations.

Faculty Senate Structure and Procedures

University Handbook, Appendix E:
Constitution of the K-State Faculty Senate

Section A: Powers of the General Faculty

3. Faculty participation being essential to the establishment of policy relating to many all-university problems, it is within the power of the faculty to participate in the formulation of policies concerning such matters.

Benefits of Being a Faculty Senator

“ The success of the University and the positive morale of the faculty and administration are dependent upon continued use of the collective intelligence of the university community...This requires extensive sharing of information and a shared understanding that faculty representatives and administrators strive always for informed mutual support through shared governance dialog”.

From: Guidelines for Shared Governance, The University of Arizona, 2005 as found in Fish, S. (2007). Shared governance. Democracy is not an educational ideal. Change, 39, (2),9-13.
