We are gearing up for National Cybersecurity Awareness month. We will kick it off on Oct. 1 with Josh McCune giving a presentation on the State of IT Security at K-State. An article about it will be coming out in K-State Today tomorrow. Registration will be required. You can read the details in the article below.

http://blogs.k-state.edu/it-news/2019/09/24/october-is-national-cybersecurity-awareness-month-2-2/

We would like you to help us promote the various activities throughout the month. More details on that will be forthcoming. We will write articles for K-State Today and post events on the website as we finalize them.
