

Tracked Changes version of suggested changes by the UHPC to F64.6 since the April 28 Executive Committee Meeting. These changes improve clarity of the policy but do not change its intent.

F64.6: University Withdrawal

If a student disenrolls from all courses in a given term, on or after the first day of the term beginning, this action constitutes an official university withdrawal. A university withdrawal may affect tuition refunds, financial aid eligibility, visa status, athletic participation, and other academic or financial considerations. Therefore, Sstudents are strongly encouraged to consult with their academic advisor and the Office of Student Financial Assistance before withdrawing.

~~Students who decide to withdraw from Kansas State University by disenrolling from all classes may initiate and complete a full withdrawal directly through the student information system. When a student disenrolls for all courses in a given term, the action constitutes an official university withdrawal.~~

Certain student populations may be restricted from completing full withdrawal due to federal, visa, or regulatory requirements. These students must continue to work with designated university offices to initiate a withdrawal. Specifically:

- International students on F1 or J1 visas and NCAA student athletes must complete withdrawals through their college dean's office with the support and review of the appropriate compliance office to ensure required approvals related to visa status or athletic eligibility. 1 or J1 visas athletes
- Students receiving military benefits will have a withdrawal hold applied and must contact the Office of Veterans Affairs before withdrawing to ensure compliance with benefit regulations.

Students who are not restricted may initiate and complete a full withdrawal directly through the student information system. For more information, students should refer to the Office of Student Financial Assistance for guidance on Dropping All Classes or Withdrawing from K-State and the Drops and Withdrawals website under the Office of the Registrar.
