KSU in Italy - Summer

Orvieto, Italy

Summer 2018

Tuition and Program Fee: $7,895.40*

Program Dates: May 20 to June 17, 2018 (29 days)
Application Deadline: February 1, 2018

Kansas State University’s signature program abroad, KSU in Italy features six different courses with KSU professors and students over a four-week summer term. Located in the picturesque hill town of Orvieto, the program allows students to take two English-language courses and engage with local Italians and the robust culture of the Umbrian region. Students can stay in apartments or with local families and tour local cities like Rome and Florence as part of their classes.

Honors students in particular should consider enrolling in PHILO 399, the Honors Seminar in Philosophy. The course will discuss the difference of applied ethical issues that connect with Italian history and culture. Honors in Orvieto coursework can be used to satisfy curricular requirements in the Honors program.

Courses Available:
- ART 630- Orvieto Sketchbook, Prof. Erin Wiersma
- ART 628 - History of Italian Art and Architecture, Prof. Douglas Dow
- HM 499 - Food and Wine of Italy, Prof. Elizabeth Barrett, Prof. Pat Pesci, & Prof. Kelly Whitehair
- MLANG 100 - Italian for Travelers, Prof. Alessa Salamina
- MC 589 - Inter-cultural Digital Storytelling, Prof. Andrew Smith
- MKTG 400 - Introduction to Marketing, Prof. Swinder Janda

PHILO 399 - Honors Seminar in Philosophy - Leonardo & Galileo: Science & Religion in the Italian Renaissance, Prof. Scott Tanana

*All listed costs are estimates that include airfare, tuition, fees, insurance, housing, food, and additional for the duration of the program. Programs are subject to change. For a complete database of all programs, visit k-state.edu/abroad.

Faculty-Led Programs

Exploring Equatorial Ecosystems and Creative Writing at the “Center of the World”

Galapagos and Quito, Ecuador

Summer Course with May Study Tour, offered every year
Prof. Elizabeth Dodd and Prof. Martha Caldas

This unique program links contemporary biology and the history of science to reflective, narrative, and research-based creative nonfiction writing. By enrolling in both of these classes, students will consider their experiences and readings from the complementary perspectives of both arts and sciences. The group will travel together and participate in activities, lectures, and field experiences together.

International Healthcare Experience in Paraguay

Asuncion, Paraguay

Spring 2018 Course with Summer 2018 study tour
Dr. Shawn Jordan and Dr. John Buckwalter

This program includes a course in the general healthcare of Paraguay that is open to students interested in examining the biological, psychological, socio-cultural, economics, geographic and political influences on health in a global world. This service learning experience will provide community and active health education along with leading community activities.

Intercultural Communication

Tokyo, Kyoto, Hiroshima, and Nara, Japan

Summer Course with June Study Tour
Dr. Soo-Hye Han

In this course, students explore the complex relationship between communication and culture in a variety of contexts. During the study tour students will learn about Japanese culture, history, and values, and how people live and interact with each other. While in Tokyo, participants will practice intercultural communication firsthand by interacting with Japanese college students.

Honors in Italy

On the KSU in Italy program, you can enroll in coursework taught by Kansas State University faculty members. The faculty teaching the Honors Seminar in Philosophy, PHILO 399, include:
- Dr. Scott Tanana, Associate Professor of Philosophy
