YOUR TREATMENT TEAM: WHAT TO EXPECT

YOUR INITIAL VISIT INCLUDES:
+ Detailed history and physical examination to determine if you are at risk or currently have an eating disorder.
+ Necessary diagnostic tests — such as lab, EKG, bone density — to evaluate physical effects resulting from disordered eating.

MENTAL HEALTH PROVIDER
Assist in identifying underlying issues contributing to your eating behaviors and formulating healthier coping tools.
Several important factors are discussed, including:
+ Disordered eating symptoms.
+ Coping skills and support system.
  + Body image.
+ Level of functioning — eating, sleeping, use of substances and medications.
+ Suicide risk assessment.

REGISTERED DIETITIAN
Help establish a healthier eating pattern and reduce harmful nutrition beliefs and behaviors. In the initial assessment, you will be asked about:
+ Your typical food and beverage intake.
  + Activity level.
+ Eating behaviors and body image concerns.
A customized meal plan will be provided based on estimated nutrient requirements. You will not be pressured to eat or rapidly change current behaviors, but coached to achieve gradual nutrition improvements to support recovery.

MEDICAL PROVIDER
Prevent and/or treat the medical ramifications of disordered eating.

YOUR ROLE
Asking for help can be a difficult and gradual process. For treatment to work, you must be engaged in the process. This includes:
+ Remaining open and honest.
+ Addressing concerns with treatment providers as they occur.
+ Regularly attending visits with each team member to ensure health and safety.
+ Willingness to work on body image, eating and exercise behavior, and relationships.
+ An openness to feedback and trust in the recovery process.

ARE YOU AT RISK?
Free, confidential and anonymous online self-screening at mybodyscreening.org.

SYMPTOMS REQUIRING URGENT CARE:
+ Dizziness, fainting, shortness of breath.
  + Chest pain.
+ Prolonged/painful constipation or diarrhea.
+ Blood in stool or vomit.
+ Uncontrollable inability to keep down any food or fluids.

ULTIMATE TREATMENT GOALS
+ Medical/physical stability and health.
  + Normalized, nonrestrictive eating.
  + Normalized, safe physical activity.
  + Absence of purging behaviors.
  + Healthy coping mechanisms.
  + Improved mental health.
+ Social support in place to minimize or prevent relapse during stress.

TREATMENT OPTIONS
Treatment is a personal choice based on your comfort level. A student may undergo initial assessment for disordered eating in many ways, including:
+ Contacting a mental health provider on or off campus.
+ Contacting a medical provider at Lafene Health Center or off campus.
+ Visiting with Lafene’s registered dietitian.
After the initial assessment, the student may be asked to meet with other members of the treatment team. One of the following recommendations will be discussed:

SHORT-TERM OUTPATIENT CARE
+ The student may be encouraged to consider services including nutrition, medical and psychotherapy.

INTENSIVE OR LONG-TERM CARE
+ The student may be referred to community providers or regional facilities that offer the appropriate level of care. See links to programs/facilities.

RESIDENTIAL SERVICES
+ The student may be referred to programs offering in-patient care when a higher level of care is recommended.
