MLANG 280 (14031): TV Around the World
MWF 9:30 - 10:20 a.m.

Streaming platforms like Netflix and Hulu give us unprecedented access to content from around the world. Limiting our viewing to only English-language content means missing out on a whole world of great films and television. In this first year seminar, we will learn the nuts and bolts of watching television, explore the world of television from a range of cultures and contexts, and discuss how recent changes in technology and platform have affected our viewing practices. (Note: This course is a First Year Seminar.)
