

History of Philosophy

PHILO 301

This course an introduction to the history of western philosophy. We begin slightly before the classical period in Greece, and end with the crisis of the Enlightenment, around 1780 AD.

We will strive to understand not just the theories and arguments contained in the philosophical texts we read, but also the relationship between those texts and the practical questions (about political and social justice, religious belief, and scientific method) that confronted their authors.

Dr. Leach-Krouse · Dickens 203 · TTh 9:30-10:45 · Spring 2020