

Moral Philosophy

PHILO 330

This class provides a survey of major developments in moral theory in the 20th century, and then ends with a unit on an applied ethical issue of contemporary interest: complicity in evil.

Topics covered include: the nature of moral properties, theories of moral knowledge, consequentialism, virtue theory, constructivist deontology, non-ideal theory, reflective equilibrium, moral dilemmas, and complicity.

Dr. Amelia Hicks · Online · Asynchronous · Spring 2021