POLITICS OF THE GLOBAL ECONOMY

DR. ANDREW LONG

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS & FRIDAYS: 1:30-2:20PM

In this course, we explore the effects of politics on international economic relations, as well as the impact these relations have on domestic and international politics. We will learn and evaluate theoretical accounts of the workings of the international political economy (IPE) - and to do this we will study both historical trends in IPE and the prominent explanations of these trends.

THIS COURSE IS PART OF THE GLOBAL POLITICS AND SECURITY TRACK!
