Kansas State University is committed to maintaining a safe and healthy campus community through education, information and intervention concerning alcohol and other drugs. Among other efforts, the university is committed to maintaining a work and academic environment that is free from illegal use and misuse of alcohol and drugs in accordance with all federal, state and local laws, including the Federal Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act and related regulations. K-State endeavors to educate its students, staff and faculty regarding the dangers of alcohol and illicit drugs because the use of alcohol and illegal drugs poses a health threat to members of the university community.

Kansas State University is required by law to notify all students, faculty and staff annually of alcohol and other drug policies, sanctions and the risks associated with use. This notification provides the campus community with the following information:

- Alcohol and drug programs available to students and staff.
- Health risks associated with alcohol abuse and illicit drug use.
- Applicable university policies and standards of conduct and disciplinary sanctions for students and staff regarding alcohol and drug use.
- Federal and state legal sanctions.

Keeping K-State safe depends on all university community members' cooperation, involvement, and support. I appreciate your reviewing the information provided below and doing your part in maintaining a safe and healthy campus community.
