

GWSS 325 Queer Studies: Concepts, Histories, & Politics Dr. Nguyen

Monday/Wednesday/Friday, 9:30-10:20 am

This course spotlights the negotiate processes of becoming and belonging. Employing intersectional lenses of reading queer desires, anxieties, complexities, relationalities, and (im)possibilities, we are going to inquire why queer is for everyone. Ultimately, we unveil queer intersectionality as a bridge to self-reflection, identity formation, inclusive promotion, community building, intergroup solidarity, and social transformation by learning from differences.
