

GWSS 435:
Race, Sex, Science
Dr. Weaver

Monday/Wednesday, 10:30-1:30 pm

Science and technology are central to our lives. We use medicines that shape and save our lives; and machines increasingly monitor and shape our interactions and even our bodies. Also, science is used as powerful basis of authority; when “science says,” people listen. This class examines how science, technology, and medicine shape and are shaped by race, gender, ability, sexuality, & empire.