

GWSS 405: Res Mvmt For Social Change

Dr. Levitt

W: 2:30-5:20

This course focuses on activism people have engaged in to bring about better life circumstances for themselves and their communities. This includes working class struggles, HIV/AIDS activisms, Native liberation movements, the MeToo movement, BLM, activism opposing DEI bans, Trans Prison Abolition, Rights for Girls, the Arab Spring, Occupy Wall Street, The Self Employed Women's Association, as well as others.

This course fulfills the Global Perspectives Overlay for Arts and Sciences as well as counting for the Queer Studies minor.
The class is also pre-approved for honors credit.